

Tēnā koutou katoa

As we approach the end of another productive term, I want to start by reflecting on God's faithfulness. Each morning, our staff gathers to read and reflect on His unwavering loyalty to us. It has been a blessing to intentionally weave these reflections into our daily practice, modeling for our students what it means to trust in a God who never changes.

We are aware that many in our community are feeling the weight of the current economic climate. With the recent rise in fuel prices due to the ongoing conflict in Iran, we know that budgets are being stretched. In times of uncertainty, I am encouraged by the words of Charles Spurgeon: "The sovereignty of God is the sweet pillow that you can lay your head on at night." Please be encouraged that God remains in total control. He does not promise us a life without challenges, but He does promise to be with us through every trial.

It has been a true blessing to observe our students making deep connections and building authentic relationships through our Teaching for Transformation (TfT) practices.

- Opening Circles: Our morning gatherings provide vital opportunities for students to connect and learn about one another.
- Deep Hopes: Our classrooms' Deep Hopes are guiding our learning and encouraging our children to be active participants in God's Big Story.

This Friday, we are excited to welcome staff from the Waiouru Army Museum, who will be sharing ANZAC learning with the Rooms 4 and 5 students at 10am.

Attendance Dues & Hero App

A quick reminder regarding attendance dues: if these are paid directly to Auckland, please be aware that it may take up to a month for this to reflect on the Hero app. We must wait for the monthly report from Auckland before we can update our local records. Thank you for your patience and understanding.

Staff Development & Teacher Only Days

To ensure we continue growing as a Tft school, we have the following arrangements:

- Thursday, April 2 (Last Day of Term): School finishes at 3:00 pm. Teachers will be in Tft training; however, release teachers will cover classes so there is no need for a Teacher Only Day.
- May 15: Teacher Only Day (Maths Curriculum). Please plan for your children to be home on this day.
- End of Term 3: There will be a Teacher Only Day for Tft training. Please note that this has added an extra to the school calendar at the end of the year.

Looking Ahead to Term 2

- June 6: We will be taking the church service at PN Central SDA Church.
- Week of Worship: This will take place the week following our church service.

I hope you have a wonderful and restful term break with your families.

Ngā mihi nui,
Karla Mitchell - Principal
